Dewey Bandwagon Gathers Speed As Zero Hour Nears

TWO MORE STATES PLEDGE SUPPORT ON FIRST BALLOT

BY LYLE C. WILSON UNITED PRESS STAFF WRITER
CONVENTION HALL, Philadelphia, June 24 — Thomas E. Dewey all but clinched victory today as the 2 p. m. zero hour approached for the Republican national convention's first presidential ballot.
Stop-Dewey leaders kept shouting but their cause, barring a political miracle, seemed hopeless. The elect-Dewey people were having the better time of it. In quick succession:
1. Sen. Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts withdrew his favorite son candidacy in favor of Dewey. His action was expected to hand the New York governor a big batch of Massachusetts' 35 votes on the first ballot.
2. Jim Shott, West Virginia state chairman, said his state's 16 votes would go to Dewey on the first ballot.
3. Dewey chipped away some of Harold E. Stassen's first-ballot power among Nebraska's 15 delegates. Delegation Chairman Arthur J. Weaver conceded that Dewey would get two Nebraska votes, and he said other switching seemed likely.
4. Chairman Robert O. Bonnell of the Maryland delegation predicted Dewey would get all of that state's 16 votes after the first ballot. He said Sen. Robert A. Taft likely would get 5 and Stassen 3.

DRASTIC RUSSIAN MOVES ARE TAKEN

Electric Power, Food Shipments To Berlin Area Are Halted

(By Associated Press)
Russia cut off electric power and rail shipments of food and coal to the western zones of Berlin today.
The water supply was affected in part of the French zone. It was the most drastic step yet taken by the Soviets to force the U. S., Britain and France from Berlin.
In Warsaw, Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov said that Russian and foreign ministers of seven states of the Russian sphere made plans for a separate government in eastern Germany. This was the reaction to the western powers' agreement to establish a semi-independent government in western Germany.
The new pressure in Berlin stemmed from the Russian effort to force her currency on all Berlin as the only valid money. The western powers refused to accept the Soviet decree. They brought their own new currency into the western areas of the capital.
The Berlin German council declared both moneys valid. The Russians insisted only theirs could circulate and threatened punishment to those accepting western money. The Western Allies recognized the Russian money as valid.
Gen. Lucius D. Clay said the Russians "cannot drive us out of Berlin by any action short of war."
The American military governor said the latest moves of the Soviets indicate they "are trying to put the final pressure to drive us out of Berlin."

County Symphony's Program Enjoyed

Masters at making music, members of the Columbiana County Symphony orchestra offered a "top" program of classical numbers in a concert Wednesday night in the Salem High school.
Made up of approximately 60 musicians from Salem, Leetonia, Columbiana, Wellsville, East Liverpool, East Palestine, Lisbon and Sebring, the orchestra is directed by Arthur Wise, supervisor of music in the Lisbon schools and is one of the most outstanding musical organizations of its kind in this area.
Miss Camille Preston, teacher of stringed instruments in the Lisbon schools, solicited for the symphony, captivated her audience in the presentation of the overture to "Le Calife de Bagdad." She was given a bouquet of mixed flowers.
William A. Runkin of Leetonia, well known flutist, and assistant director, was enthusiastically received, when he directed the overture, "Morning Noon and Night." Runkin is employed in the Columbus Co. office.
Given an ovation at the conclusion of the program, the orchestra responded with two encores.
Sponsored by the Salem Music Study club, the ticket committee for the concert was composed of Mrs. M. P. Livingston, Mrs. Raymond Stiver and Mrs. Vesta King. This concert was one of a series of two summer concerts given by the orchestra, the other one having been presented at Lisbon.

FEAR HIGHER COAL PRICES

Producers Make Estimates If Lewis' Wage Demands Are Met

(By United Press)
WASHINGTON, June 24 — Spokesmen for the soft coal industry estimated today that John L. Lewis new contract demands add up to a $3-a-day wage boost for his 400,000 miners.
They said that if the United Mine Workers' terms are met, coal prices will jump another 50 cents to $1 a ton.
The coal operators were to let Lewis know today whether they will meet his demands in order to avert a threatened strike next month. Lewis planned to submit their answer to a meeting of his 200-man wage policy committee this afternoon.
White House awaits word
Immediately after the meeting, Lewis and the operators were to report to President Truman's board of inquiry whether they can reach an agreement or are willing to extend the current contract until a new pact is signed.
The board gave the parties until 5 p. m. EDT, to settle their dispute. Otherwise, it is prepared to report to the White House that expiration of the current contract next Wednesday threatens to imperil the national health and safety.
That report would clear the way for the government to seek a court order tomorrow requiring the miners to return to their jobs July 6, at the end of their annual 10-day vacation. The miners will begin their vacation Saturday. The 10-day holiday already has caused some steel mills to bank ovens to avoid dipping into meager stockpiles.
Lewis reportedly placed only three "money" demands before the operators yesterday in negotiations which broke the deadlock on a 1948 contract. He asked for a reduction in the work day from eight to seven hours, plus a general pay boost and an increase in the 10 cents per ton levy for the union welfare and retirement fund.

State Court Decides Bingo Games Stay

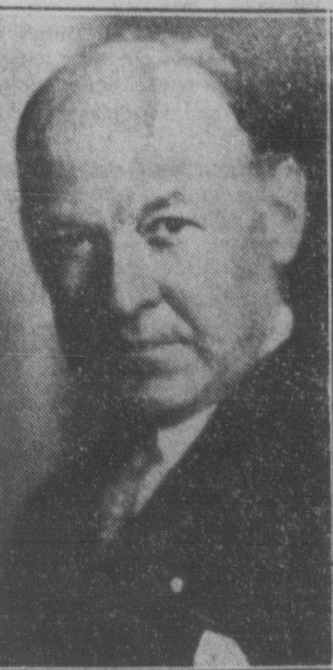

(By United Press)
COLUMBUS, June 24 — Ohio's Bingo act is legal, the state supreme court held yesterday in a six to one decision.
The act, passed in 1943, allows bingo parties which are not operated for personal gain. Bingo played for the operator's "own profit" constitutes a lottery.
The decision means that religious, charitable and patriotic organizations may continue bingo parties without fear of prosecution.
Chief Justice Carl V. Weyandt dissented.
A constitutional provision barring lotteries is not self-executing, the supreme court ruled. Laws must be passed to make it operative. Thus, the court decided, the legislature had authority to exclude bingo from the prohibited list when not operated for personal gain.
The decision was made in a case involving Murray S. Parker of Summit county. He was arrested on a 127-count indictment charging him with operating bingo games.
In another decision, the Supreme court upheld State Motor Vehicle Registrar Edward T. Fogo in refusing free license plates to the Church of the Nazarene for the buses used to carry children to Sunday and Bible schools.

Two Motorists Fined

Ricard H. Pettit, 46, of R. D. 3, Alliance, was fined $10 and costs by Judge Harry Wycoff of Alliance Wednesday after being arrested by the state highway patrol for having no driver's license.
Clarence V. Miller, Jr., 24, of R. D. 3, Salem, was fined $10 and costs by Justice Felix Butch of Lisbon for reckless operation.

Boyle Views Humorous Convention

BY HAL BOYLE
PHILADELPHIA, June 24 — Convention delegates, filtered through 14,000 Republican larynxes, were down to a whisper today after nearly seven hours of yelling for their seven "people's choices."
The Grand Old Party's grand old party began with a stirring exchange of war whoops and boos between people for and against governor Thomas E. Dewey.
It ended at 3:02 a. m. with a hoarse tired cheer for General Douglas MacArthur in a hall three-fourths empty.
By then the hall looked like it held a semi-nudest convention meeting in the wreckage of a hurricane. Confetti, torn streamers, discarded paper cups and sandwich scraps littered the floor. Three fugitive red balloons bobbed against the ceiling, trailing "Win With Taft" pennants.
The men delegates long since had discarded their coats, their neckties and ripped open their collars. Many lady delegates had slipped their feet out of their shoes.
As the delegates filed out, the janitors awoke from catnaps and went to work.
Had the dawn come up like thunder today it would have sounded only like a whimper to the weary Republicans dreaming sweet victory dreams—for Tom Dewey, Or Taft, Or Warren, Or Stassen, Or Baldwin, Or Vandenberg, Or MacArthur.
Last night the voices named these seven. Today or tonight or tomorrow votes will pick the one survivor—the 1948 nominee.
One elderly marcher, after trudging half an hour in the Dewey parade around the hall, sat down next to his wife and said:
"All right, mother, I've knocked myself out."
Another delegate grabbed a friend and tried to get him to march around again:
"Come on, Ed!"
"I'm for him all right," said Ed, "but my feet aren't."

Widely-Known Salem Man Is Stroke Victim

Louis Herbert Brush, 76, of Salem, chairman of the board of Brush-Moore Newspapers, Inc., and a lifelong newspaperman, died this morning at 10 in Hahnemann hospital at Philadelphia.
His death was the result of a cerebral hemorrhage suffered early Wednesday morning in the apartment of a friend, Henry A. Hurst.
Mrs. Brush and their grandson, Thomas Stewart Brush, Jr., of Marion, who reached Philadelphia early this morning, had visited Mr. Brush before his death. They were accompanied by Mrs. Mary Dunn of Salem, a close friend and neighbor.
Mr. Brush was attending the Republican national convention and was occupying the apartment with a Mansfield friend, C. F. (Ted) Routzahn, when he was stricken.
Mr. Brush spent as comfortable a night as his condition would warrant but he took a sudden turn for the worse this morning and died shortly after a doctor's consultation.
The body will arrive in Salem Friday morning.
Funeral service will be held at the home, 663 S. Lincoln ave., at 3:30 p. m. Saturday, in charge of Dr. Charles B. Ketcham, president of Mt. Union college.
Burial will be in Grandview cemetery.
Mr. Brush spent a lifetime in active newspaper work, dating from his days in school and college, rounding the turn of the century as owner and publisher of The Salem News, coming in later years to the presidency and then chairman of the board of Brush-Moore Newspapers, Inc., in which eight publications are grouped.
Born in Alliance
The son of James Alpheus and Amelia (McCall) Brush, he was born Jan. 24, 1872, in Alliance. His mother and father served for many years as professors at Mt. Union college, gaining national recognition as Ohio educators. An uncle, Dr. O. N. Hartshorn, was founder of the college and for him the Mt. Union stadium was named.
Bound by such ties, Mr. Brush was a loyal and energetic alumnus. He became a trustee of Mt. Union many years ago, served also as its treasurer, and on Oct. 20, 1938, the college conferred upon him the honorary degree of doctor of laws.
He received his early education in the public schools of Alliance, enrolled at Mt. Union and was awarded the degree of bachelor of arts. The college publication, "The Dynamo," of which he was business manager, gave him inspiration to follow a newspaper career.
His first work was with the Alliance Review as a member of the circulation staff. His brother, Harlan W. Brush, was business manager of the paper. A year later, in 1893, he became circulation manager of the Ohio Sun at Youngstown, predecessor of the Youngstown Telegram.
Came To Salem In 1894
In 1894 Mr. Brush, then 22, became business manager of The Salem News and he bought an interest in the paper, associating himself with Dr. T. T. Church and John R. Vernon in the ownership. Three years later Mr. Brush acquired controlling interest.
In 1901 he purchased The Review at East Liverpool. It was the same year in which he moved The Salem News into the three-story building which he built at 624 E. State st. He had acquired the Walton Printing Co. and thus added a job printing plant, specializing in labels and later operating under the name of The Salem Label Co.
About 1919 Mr. Brush purchased the other local newspaper, The Daily Herald, and merged it with The News.
Two years later, in 1921, he bought the East Liverpool Tribune, a morning daily, merged it with The Review and later placed the operation of the East Liverpool paper in the hands of his son, Thomas Stewart Brush.
Bought Other Papers
Mr. Brush and his brother, Harlan, bought the Alliance Leader in 1910 and sold it some months later to Frank and R. C. Holmes, owners of The Alliance Review.
In 1923 Mr. Brush and Roy D. Moore joined in the purchase of The Marion Star from President Warren G. Harding and two years later, together with Atty. W. H. Vordrey of East Liverpool, they purchased the Steubenville Herald-Star.
The three partners purchased The Canton Repository in 1927, thereupon forming Brush-Moore Newspapers, Inc., with Mr. Brush as president. He continued as president until June 4, 1946, when he became chairman of the board.
The Salem News and East Liverpool Review then were brought under ownership of the new corporation, linked with the Marion Star, Steubenville Herald-Star and Canton Repository. In 1930 the corporation purchased The Canton News from former Gov. James M. Cox and merged it with The Repository.
In the same year The Portsmouth Times and a half interest in The Ironton Tribune were bought from Harry E. Taylor. The Salisbury, Md., Times was acquired in 1937. In that year the newspaper group incorporated the Ohio Broadcasting Co. and purchased the Canton radio station.

GOOD CORN CROP IN MIDWEST SEEN

CHICAGO, June 24 — More than knee high by the Fourth of July appeared to be a certainty today for the nation's all important corn crop.
Traditionally, corn should be knee high by July 4 if the country is to have a good harvest. It already is knee high in several Midwest areas and growing rapidly as a result of heavy rains in the past 48 hours.
That's good news to everyone who eats. Corn is a basic gain used mainly as a livestock and poultry feed. High prices now posted in grocery and meat stores are attributable at least in part to last year's short corn production.
Crop experts cautioned the crop is a long, long way from being "made." It will need timely rains in July and August—what it lacked in last year's drought—to come through to a big harvest as desired. But right now the outlook has seldom, if ever, been better.

TAFT BACKERS LINE UP VOTES

Ohio's Supporters Line Up Support As Balloting Looms

By ED EASTERLY
AP Special Service

PHILADELPHIA, June 24—The Taft-for-President camp today drew every man and woman it could muster into a campaign to line up votes before balloting begins in the Republican convention. Approximately 200 persons, most of them public officials, business men and political smart boys from Ohio were turned loose against the state delegations not nailed down for Dewey.

Senator Robert A. Taft feels that Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York is his principal rival for the presidential nomination.

The Ohio missionaries were carrying the Taft gospel even into the Dewey-pledged delegations, hopeful of gaining a few converts.

Virtually every top Republican state official in Ohio has checked into the Taft headquarters for instruction on whom to see in what state delegation and the best technique for wooing him.

Officials Work Hard

They included State Treasurer Don H. Herbert, Atty. Gen. Hugh S. Jenkins, Secretary of State Edward J. Hummel, Liquor Director Dale Dunifon, Chairman Harry Miller of the State Utilities commission and James Merkel, chief of the state division of securities.

Numerous business men and newspaper publishers and editors sympathetic to the Taft cause are lending their talents.

Among them are Herschel Atkinson, executive vice president of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce; Don Finkbeiner, Toledo attorney and former president of the Ohio State Bar Association; Attorney Robert Barton of Columbus, law partner of Senator John Bricker; Roy Moore of the Brush-Moore newspapers, and Robert R. Williams, executive vice president of the Ohio State Restaurant association.

Young women on the headquarters staff are carrying the Taft message to acquaintances in other delegations.

Rep. Clarence J. Brown, Taft campaign manager and Senator Bricker, chairman of the Ohio delegation, are seeking to build up a reserve of delegates who can be added to the Taft total after the first ballot.

In view of this plan to snowball Taft's total on later ballots, Brown is declining to make public the number of new votes he might be promised.

He continues to stand by his estimate of 300 to 312 Taft votes on the first ballot.

Tests Show Bats Not Wholly Warm-Blooded

SAN FRANCISCO—All mammals are not consistently warm-blooded, according to Dr. Robert T. Orr, curator of birds and mammals at the California Academy of Sciences in San Francisco.

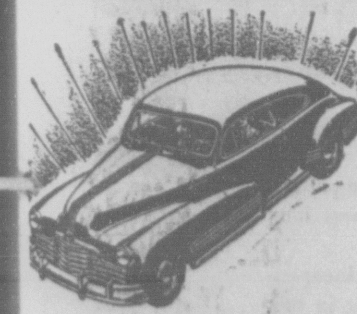

He said the temperature of some species of inactive bats varies with environment.

Live bats placed in a cold-room where the temperature was kept between 40 and 50 degrees F. soon had about the same temperature. Dr. Orr pointed out that the cold-room conditions are about the same as in the caves in which the bats sleep through the winter.

When roused from sleep, the little bats vibrate "like B-29s warming up," the scientists said, "and rapidly become warm and ready for flight."

Survives Electrocution

AKRON, June 24—Joseph W. Barrett, 45, last night survived a fall against a high tension line which sheriff's deputies reported carried 7,000 volts. Barrett was working with a construction crew when he fell against a transformer. He was reported in fair condition in near-by Barberton Citizens hospital.

26 Letters; A Milestone For Davey

Zanesville's 'Huck Finn' Makes Good Out In Kansas
In Fight To Get Himself Out of World of Silence

Davey Hook at home: A 'Huck Finn' nobody could understand.

Davey's new horizon: A long way from home, but a bright future.

At the Institute for Logopedics in Wichita, Kan., Dr. Martin Palmer and Mrs. Virgil Barritt listen attentively as Davey Hook reads aloud to show he can now pronounce every letter in the alphabet so that other people can understand him.

WICHITA, Kan.—This is a report for Aerie No. 302, Fraternal Order of Eagles, Zanesville, O., but other folks can listen in if they want because the news is heart-warming and good.

Davey Hook of Zanesville has just passed a milestone out here at the Institute for Logopedics in his fight out of the world of silence and into the world of speech. He has just managed to pronounce every one of the 26 sounds of the alphabet intelligibly.

For an average seven-year-old, that might not be much. But this boy you Eagles sent out for speech training under Dr. Martin F. Palmer had been so handicapped he had to spend two years in the first grade because his speech was unintelligible.

Institute authorities are doubly pleased by Davey's progress, first because he's such a swell boy and second because his success dramatizes the possibilities for 4,000,000 adults and youngsters in the U. S. who are similarly handicapped.

Since the Institute has no facilities for boarding trainees, Davey is a paying guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William McCullum, who have three children of their own, Earletta Sue, five; Bill, Jr., three, and Gail, one. Davey, says McCullum, is already leader of the foursome.

Davey's day begins at 7:30 a. m. when he arises and gets ready for a day of classes at the Institute. By eight o'clock he and the McCullum children are seated around the table doing justice to a healthy breakfast of fruit juice, cereal, eggs and milk. He arrives at the Institute a little before classes begin at nine o'clock and in passing Dr. Palmer's office he cheerfully shouts, "Good morning, Boss," his affectionate nickname for Dr. Palmer.

His first lesson is with Forrest Hull, assistant director of the Institute, during which he is drilled in pronouncing the sounds which are missing in his speech. Later, he takes a lesson in speech drill from Mrs. Virgil Barritt who makes instruction more interesting by making a game of it. Davey prints letters on cards with colored crayons, then stands across the room and calls the letters as she displays the cards. For every letter he pronounces correctly, Mrs. Barritt tosses the card to him.

After luncheon Davey spends a couple of hours in the Institute's workshop, which is operated by the Junior League of Wichita as a voluntary philanthropic project.

One of his particular pals in the workshop is Donnie Austin, a 13-year-old cerebellar palsy case who has made remarkable strides toward making himself independent since becoming a trainee at the Institute. When Donnie first started his training at the Institute he could not walk, dress himself, brush his teeth, eat by himself or care for his own personal needs. Today, he can do all of these things and is learning to talk intelligently so that he is no longer imprisoned by silence.

Another of Davey's compatriots for speech correction at the Institute is seven-year-old Johnny, who

First It's Missing Car Then the Owner Is Missing

SANTA ANA, Calif.—Traveling salesman Ralph W. Sullivan reported to Santa Ana police that he had parked his car on Main street, but couldn't find it. Officers couldn't find it either.

Sullivan then remembered where it was and told the officers if they didn't hear from him to suppose he had found it.

Shortly afterwards a stolen car was reported found in front of the Newport, Cal., police headquarters. It was Sullivan's.

Now it's a case of the missing owner. Santa Ana police haven't any idea where he might be. They are waiting for him to return and claim the car and $16 found on the seat. Both the money and car had been parked where found since the day reported, several days before.

Shade Shelters Devised To Aid Growing Livestock

EL CENTRO, Calif.—Imperial Valley cattle raisers have been benefited by experiments conducted by two animal husbandmen in devising shade shelters that make livestock more comfortable during summer months.

Four types of shelters were built at the Meloland experiment station by N. R. Ittner, University of California, and C. F. Kelly, United States Department of Agriculture.

The experts found that shelters with aluminum and hay roofs gave the greatest protection to the growing fat cattle used in the experiment. Wooden slat roofs, filled with hay, were found to be advantageous by permitting sun to filter through and tended to discourage flies.

Here's How Pigeon River Received Name of Canton

CANTON, N. C.—The settlers of this mountain community of 5,000 named their home in honor of the Ohio city which built their bridge. Canton was incorporated in 1891 as Pigeon River, after the roaring highland streams which drove their power mill. Two years later, however, a citizen noticed the name of Canton, O., engraved on the bridge which spanned Pigeon river.

Canton sounded like a good name, and it stuck.

Home From Rio De Janeiro, McCulloch Believes Rotary Event Created Goodwill

Back in Salem after taking a trip to South America, Mr. and Mrs. R. S. McCulloch and their son, Robert, Jr., recall the highlights of their visit to Rio de Janeiro, Santos and San Paulo in Brazil, Montevideo, Uruguay and Buenos Aires, Argentina.

McCulloch was a delegate to the 39th Rotary International convention May 16-25 in Rio de Janeiro. He represented and carried proxies for more than 20 Northeastern Ohio Rotary clubs.

Not over 4,000 delegates to the convention were expected, but the registration reached almost 5,000. This was also the first time in the history of the convention the combined attendance of South American and other countries exceeded that of the United States.

Representatives of 26 countries attended the Rio session and speeches were repeated in English, Portuguese and Spanish to overcome language difficulties. McCulloch states General Eurico Gaspar Dutra, president of Brazil, a Rotarian himself, gave the opening address.

McCulloch served on the important council of legislation.

The Rotary clubs of San Paulo, Brazil, Montevideo, Uruguay and Buenos Aires, Argentina held special luncheons, pageants, land and sea concerts, dances and other festivities for the 400 Rotarians who chartered the ship, S. S. Uruguay, to attend the convention. The McCulloch family was on the ship.

South American Friendliness

The South American hostesses entertained wives of the Rotarians in their homes and at luncheons. This is an entirely new custom for the South Americans.

"The people of Rio de Janeiro gave us an extremely cordial reception," McCulloch said. He agrees wholeheartedly with the boast that Rio is "the most beautiful city in the world." "One street is wide enough to allow for 28 cars abreast," he said.

McCulloch held that the Uruguayans are more like the American people, while the people of Argentina are more like the Europeans. He reported seeing many American automobiles and large new factories being built by U. S. businessmen in and around San Paulo, Brazil.

Besides the 400 Rotarians on the S. S. Uruguay, 900 sailed on the S. S. Amsterdam, several hundred went by air and a man from Louisville, Ohio, traveled the entire distance by jeep.

McCulloch believes "the visit of the 2,000 North American Rotarians created a great deal of good will."

Carlessness Is Blamed For Leather Price Hikes

CINCINNATI—A leather research expert at the University of Cincinnati claims that careless handling of livestock en route to market costs the American people millions of dollars annually.

Dr. Fred O'Flaherty said that farmers and shippers who "rough up" livestock are to blame for a needless increase in the price that must be paid for shoes and leather goods.

Dr. O'Flaherty pointed out that many times the injuries aren't discovered until the hair has been removed from the hide.

The tanner has paid the full price and must tan the poor skins along with the good. The good leather from non-damaged hides must bring a price which includes the loss on the damaged ones.

Forgives Thief But Asks Her Best Fruit Bowl Back

CLAREMORE, Okla.—Mrs. Gene Perrier forgave a thief for stealing a cake, a loaf of bread and some gelatin from her home.

"If you are still hungry, I'll fix something more to eat," she informed him through a local newspaper.

There was one condition to Mrs. Perrier's offer. The thief had to return a fruit bowl she treasured among her best.

First Ice Skaters

The earliest ice skates known were bone "runners" worn by the primitive Norsemen, who tied the bones to their feet with thongs.

Now you can get welcome relief from surface varicose veins without sacrificing the trim appearance that is your "leg-acy". Our elastic stockings are fitted to perfection to hug your legs like a second skin and are practically invisible even under sheer hose. Yet these surgical stockings are as light as air—knitted with thousands of little "windows" to keep your legs cool in the warmest weather. They launder beautifully and are available in knee and garter lengths.

ROUTE 7 PROJECT NEAR COLUMBIANA EXPECTED TO BEGIN WITHIN FEW DAYS

COLUMBIANA, June 24—Detour signs for Routes 7 and 46 were placed by the State Highway department yesterday along Main and Duquesne streets, preparatory to the closing of Route 7, also traversed for a short distance by Route 46, for work on the bridge over the Pennsylvania railroad east of here.

The project is expected to be under way in a few days.

Route 7 will be closed from the intersection of Route 14 on the north to the intersection of the Columbian-New Waterford road on the south. North-bound traffic will take the New Waterford road into Columbian, where it will traverse Duquesne st. and more than a mile of Main st. to the north corporation line. South-bound traffic on Route 7 will take Route 14 to the public square and follow the detour thence to the intersection of Route 7 and the Columbian-New Waterford road. The detour for south-bound traffic on Route 46 begins at the public square.

The Route 7 railroad crossing has been the scene of several bad accidents. Work on the safety project is expected to be completed toward the close of next year.

Barred From Entering Beauty Show By Bishop

WHEELING, W. VA., June 24—Bishop John J. Swint told Catholic girls of the Wheeling diocese yesterday to stay out of beauty contests or be excommunicated.

His warning came after a Catholic girl, Miss Gertrude Bedway, dropped out of a contest here. She said the bishop told her to withdraw or be expelled from the church.

Bishop Swint confirmed the girl's explanation.

He called modern beauty pageants "totally pagan" and "absolutely immoral," and protested the "indecent exposure" of girls' bodies before the public.

"How any girl can submit herself to that ordeal is beyond me," the bishop told a reporter. "If nakedness were eliminated, the whole thing would fall to pieces."

Methodist Bishop Urges Higher Ministerial Pay

LAKEVILLE, June 24—Many ministers and their families are experiencing serious hardships because of low pastoral salaries, Methodist Bishop H. Lester Smith of Ohio said today.

The conference subsequently voted a study of plans for ministerial support.

The conference also approved action of the recent general conference in opposing any system of peacetime universal military training.

New Treatment Found For Mental Illnesses

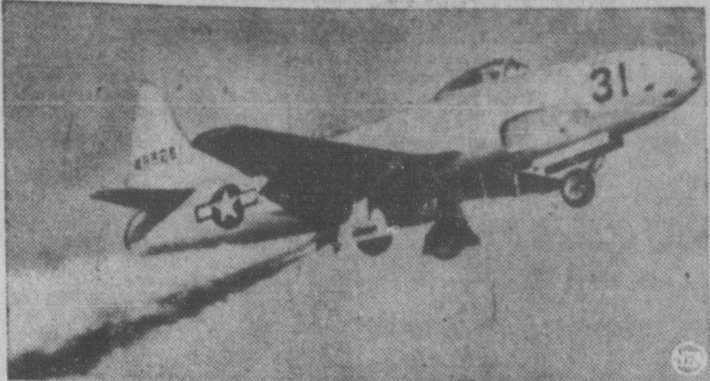

COLUMBUS — Psychosomatic medicine is suggested as the treatment for those two-thirds of the mental illnesses which include mind and emotional disturbances.

Dr. Edward Weiss, professor of clinical medicine at Temple University, explained that psychosomatic medicine is the "simultaneous application of psychological and physiological analysis in the search for the cause of illnesses."

The treatments are designed for those patients presenting no organic basis to explain their symptoms and for the equally large patient group that presents symptoms out of all proportion to the organic causes.

Air Traveller May Never Catch Up With Supersonic Speed!

BY DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—It will probably be "several decades" before the man-in-the-street will be flying with the air-lanes even close to the speed of sound—760 miles-per-hour at sea level.

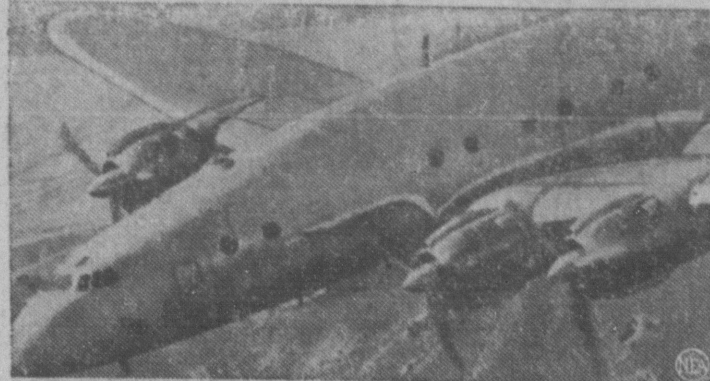

And he may never fly faster than the speed of sound in commercial planes.

This is in spite of the fact that the Air Force today is making regular flights between 900 and 1000 miles-per-hour in the famous, tiny XS-1 experimental plane. Exactly how fast the XS-1 has flown is a military secret. But the Air Force has announced that the plane has flown "far faster" than the speed of sound. And it has also revealed that the present power of the plane is capable of pushing it up to a maximum speed of 1000 miles-per-hour.

The man who claims that close-to-the-speed-of-sound is so far away for the commercial air traveler, and that perhaps faster-than-sound for the airlines will never be, is Carl F. Baker, Chief Engineer,

JETS ARE FASTER, BUT PROPS WILL KEEP SPINNING

Will tomorrow's air traveller fly with jet engines, like the one giving the P-80 a smoky boost at left, or is the propeller here to stay, like the spinning props on the Constellation at right? It's today's hottest argument in aviation circles.

Hamilton Standard Propeller Division, United Aircraft Corp.

In an article titled "Is The Propeller Here To Stay?" in the magazine "Esso Air World," Baker admits that the propeller today can't give airplanes supersonic speeds. But he thinks supersonic speeds are too expensive to attain with jets for commercial use.

Baker first quotes a Douglas Aircraft Co. engineer as saying: "Right now it would be possible to build a transport to go five or even six hundred miles-an-hour and in a few years with accumulated knowledge could probably reach the speed of sound with one. But you would have to pay so much for it that you could not compete with the other aircraft following an orderly trend of development."

Baker then says: "It, therefore, appears conclusive . . . that an appreciable development period, possibly several decades, will elapse before practical flight can be achieved at the upper end of the subsonic speed spectrum (just below the speed of sound)."

The question of whether jet and rocket motors have doomed the airplane propeller to the fate of the horse and buggy is one of the hottest arguments among aviation experts today.

Those who say that the airplane prop is on its way out point to such things as the amazing flights of the XS-1 which powered with rockets, has no propeller. And they also point out the fact that approximately three-quarters of all the planes which the Air Force is buying today are jets, without propellers. The only planes the Air Force is buying with propellers are trainers, cargo carriers and a few bombers.

It is Baker's contention that super-high speeds are too expensive to attain to have a commercial value. He writes:

"For a speed increase of 20 per cent from the subsonic, into the supersonic . . . owing to the advent of compressibility shock, the drag increase is tremendous and a power increase of approximately 800 is required. Therefore it seems obvious . . . that it is uneconomical to contemplate carrying passengers or cargo through the transonic into the supersonic speed region.

Baker draws these final conclusions on the future of the propeller and on the future of aviation in general:

"(1) The majority of all air-borne cargo and personnel will be carried in planes operating in the speed range of from 100 miles-per-hour to sonic velocities.

"(2) Regardless of the power-plant, these aircraft will have conventionally designed propellers as their propulsion device.

"(3) The propeller will be used because it is inherently a more efficient device in the 100 mile-per-hour to sonic velocity speed range than the jet, offering as it does greater flexibility in its adaptation to either reciprocating engines (standard gasoline engines) or gas-turbine power plants (jet-driven propellers)."

OHIO EMPLOYMENT DECREASES IN APRIL

COLUMBUS, June 23—Ohio industrial employment in April dropped to two per cent below the previous month, Ohio State university statisticians reported today. Payrolls were listed as three per cent under March.

Among principal Ohio cities, Akron and Toledo registered the biggest employment losses—three per cent.

The largest payroll decline—eight per cent—was at Toledo. Youngstown reported a six per cent drop and Dayton a four per cent slump.

Although statewide payrolls fell three per cent under March, they still were four per cent above the level for April of 1947. The April manufacturing employment this year was three per cent under the corresponding month last year.

Textile firms reported the largest declines, with eight per cent decreases over March payrolls and five per cent drops in employment.

Only one industry—food products—among the 11 manufacturing categories reported an April increase. Food products firms announced a five per cent gain in payrolls and a one per cent jump in employment.

Other losses in April manufacturing employment by cities included Youngstown, Dayton, Cleveland and Cincinnati, two per cent, and Columbus one per cent. Canton registered a fractional increase.

Other payroll declines included Cincinnati, three per cent; Akron, two per cent; Cleveland, one per cent, and Canton, a fractional decrease. Columbus reported a one per cent increase.

GRIDIRON DEPARTMENT

A check over in the vicinity of Reilly stadium reveals considerable progress in the preparation of the new practice field for Ben Barrett's football players.

The board of education recently purchased the property which lies between the Memorial building's vacant lot, just west of the stadium property, and the playground used by Reilly school at the southwest end of the stadium.

This new lot, which formerly was a sort of "well" between the other two, is now being filled in with dirt taken from the McKinley school addition project.

When brought to the level of the other two fields, it will give the gridirers a full length football gridiron on which to go through those tedious weekly rehearsals.

A bulldozer was at work on the property yesterday, bringing it to the proper level. It should be in fine shape for the opening of practice in the middle of August.

Football may sound far off in the steaming heat of late June, but actually the preparations for the new season are already under way. Season tickets have been on sale for almost a month and Coach Barrett is busy lining up in his mind the offenses and defenses for the approaching season.

DIAMOND DUST

The surge of the Class A Amvet softball team to record heights in the loop race surprises not too many local fans.

The outfit is not only blessed with the loop's most outstanding hurler, Johnny Zines, but has a lineup of hitting power that Bill Vecek would gladly shell out for on his Indian team.

Hitting over 300 so far this season are Jim Appedison, flitting with the 500 mark; Kirby Laughlin at about 400, Ed Pukalski and Dick Greene in the 300's, Sam Pridon clubbing at about 300 and several others so close to the 300 mark as to be considered dangerous to any hurler.

Zines, having one of his best years, has hurled seven shutouts, including two no-hitters. He has only allowed 14 runs in 12 games, indicating not only a strong pitching arm but a tight and efficient defense behind him.

Zines has a good chance this season of setting a new league record for consecutive victories. Dale Ritchie, formerly of the Recreation and now the second place Salem China, holds the current record of 18 straight wins, set in the 1944 season.

Ritchie, then a hurler with the Pottery outfit, broke the record of 11 set by Eddie Miller of the United Cigars back in the 30's.

With the present pace of the Amvets apparently untouchable by any immediate comers, Zines may just turn the trick this season.

ODDS AND ENDS

Quite a group of Salemites is planning to attend the All-Star basketball game in Middletown Saturday evening when Salem's Bob Payer will represent this district in the game against the Kentucky All-Stars.

Coach Bob Miller, possibly Frank J. Tarr, Carl Field, Bob Dixon, Ted Ursu and another carload including Phil Cozad and some friends are planning the trip. . . . Payer has been there since Monday.

The sale of season tickets for football has already exceeded the anticipated demand. . . . One outlet has sold out and is waiting for more season pads to be compiled by Faculty Manager Fred E. Cope.

Salem Legion Outfit Trims Hanoverton 18-0

The Salem Junior Legion nine won a top-sided victory over Hanoverton's Juniors Wednesday night 18-0, on the loser's diamond.

Al Wutrick hurled for Salem and limited the opposition to four hits, while his team collected 18. Wutrick also paced the hitting with four bingles in five trips. Dutch Miller notched three base hits. Wutrick fanned 11 batters.

The Salem squad will meet East Palestine at 6 p. m. Friday at Centennial park, with Bob Holt of Leetonia slated to handle the mound chores.

PARSONS, EXPERT GUN HANDLER, TO PERFORM JULY 14

Herb Parsons, one of America's fastest gun handlers, will give a free public exhibition at the Minerva shooting range, on Route 80, at 5 p. m. July 14. The show is being sponsored by nine district gun clubs. Parsons, using a .22 caliber rifle, throws a 2 1/2 inch hard maple block into the air, cracks the block and splinters the pieces with four bullets in an average of four seconds. In another feat of high-speed, Parsons throws three clay pigeons behind him, between his legs, reaches for his Model 12 shotgun, swings around and shatters them before they reach the ground. During his exhibition, in which he uses twelve rifles, shotguns and pistols, Parsons maintains a rapid-fire barrage of entertaining talk. The difficult accomplishment of coordinating shooting, breathing and talking is performed by no other shooter, and required three years to perfect. He fires twelve guns 700 times 52 ways in 57 minutes.

SEEING JONES IS REASON FOR ENTRY IN BRITISH OPEN

NEW YORK, June 24—Inspired by an accidental street corner meeting with Bobby Jones, handsome Frank Stranahan, the Toledo muscle man, emplanes for England today with high hopes of adding the British Open crown to his British amateur jewels.

Seeing that Jones, one-time emperor of the fairways, was the only American ever to win them both in the same year—during his 1930 grand slam—"Muscles" felt that their chance meeting was a good omen.

And to top it off, the heir to automotive millions expected to have his game sharper for the open than it was last month when he captured the British Amateur.

"I'm done being talked out of titles," said the sturdy 26-year-old who looks like a movie star and has muscles which run a quantity dead heat with his money. "Those pros gave me a bad time for a while but I'm in the groove now."

More Showers Predicted For Today, Dampen Hopes For Fight

NEW YORK, June 24—Joe Louis and Jersey Joe Walcott fidgeted today while the elements pondered a suitable time for them to settle their dispute over the heavyweight boxing championship of the world. Falling like needles on the tense atmosphere, a heavy downpour shortly after noon yesterday forced postponement of the 15-round en-agement at Yankee Stadium—Louis' 25th title defense and, he says, his last fight.

The contest immediately was rescheduled for tonight at 9 p. m., EST, weather permitting.

The weather bureau, in a rut, promised more showers and thunderstorms today and tomorrow. If washed out a second time, the bout will be staged Friday, and so on.

Even the odds seemed to react to the uncertainty of conditions and fluctuated between 5 to 11 and 5 to 13, favoring the champion, in brisk overnight betting activity.

It Will Be Tall Team In Cage Try For Ohio's Best

BY JOHN BARRINGTON
INS Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, June 24—It will be a tall team that represents Ohio choloastic basketball against Kentucky's schoolboy best at Bowling Green, Ky., Friday night and at Middletown, O., the next evening.

Paul Walker, the bespectacled Middletown coach whose 1947 Middle quintet won the state championship, is grooming a squad of six-foot Buckeyes. Practice sessions began yesterday at Middletown.

Tallest of the Ohioans is Dick Retherford, 6' 7" Newark center. Next is Salem's Bob Payer, 6' 6", with Walker's own Shelby Linville touching the 6' 5" mark.

The remainder of the squad: George McChesney, Middletown, 6' 4"; Norm Grevey, Hamilton Catholic, 6' 3"; Jim Holstein, Hamilton Catholic, 6' 2"; Glen Hursey, Glenford, 6' 1"; Dick Messner, Ashland, and Rod Adkins, Middletown, 6'.

The All-Star team members are 1948 graduates, even as are members are 1948 graduates, even as are members of the All-Ohio grid teams which meet in Canton in mid-August.

Messner, Linville and Steegman made the International News Service All-State. Class A, basketball team last March, and Steegman and Holstein were selected on the All-State tournament team.

It will be interesting to see how well Hursey shapes up against the cream of the Class A crop. The only Class B player named, he was both an All-Ohio and an All-State tournament choice.

Ed Diddle of Western Kentucky State college will coach the blue grass team.

Observers are high on the chances of husky Wally Unsold of Dover to become a ranking light heavyweight boxing contender.

Unsold, a Steubenville Big Red football star a few years ago, was Ohio A. A. U. champ in his class in 1947. He's had only a handful of pro fights because of a broken hand during the winter.

To date, Wally is undefeated, and in his last start he slammed a gent named Charlie Masters to the canvas eight times before his foe stayed down.

They say Wally can punch with either hand with equal aplomb. Now his manager, Paul Cash of Dover, is angling for a bout with either Arturo Godoy or Pat Richard.

Godoy, of course, is the ringwise veteran who kayaked Richard in the fourth round at Columbus last week. Richard, a rugged ex-Marine, was doing well until he ran afoul of Godoy.

Either fighter would serve to establish the degree of Unsold's promise. Wally happens to be 25 years of age, so his backer's can't be blamed if they want to find out as soon as possible just how glib edged an investment the lad is.

As a natural light-heavy, Unsold would be giving away something like 15 pounds to the burly Godoy. A bout with Richard would be nearly even from the weight standpoint.

HOGAN, DEMARET FAVORED TO WIN BIG EVENT AGAIN

Top Twosome to Rake In $3,000: Money Winners Are All Featured

Ohio AP Sports Editor

TOLEDO, June 24 — A purse of $10,500 hung at the end of 126 holes of play today as 16 of the nation's top-flight professionals launched the 11th Inverness best-ball round-robin invitational meet.

The winners get $3,000 of the melon, and practically everyone expected goldfod's golden boys, Ben Hogan and Jimmy Demaret, to pick that check after Sunday's final round.

The two transplanted Texans have won three of the last four Inverness classics, and Ben is the current leader in the money class as well as National Open and PGA champion, the first guy in a quarter-century to take both big titles the same year.

Everyone in the "battle of birdies" gets a payday, the last of the eight pairs drawing down $600 for the four days of match play. Today's opening round sent Hogan and Demaret against Dr. Cary Middlecott and Big Jim Ferrier, the former Australian who last year won the PGA title.

Other opening round pairings: Bobby Locke, South African champion and Ed Furgol vs. Chick Harbert and Vic Ghezzi; Lloyd Mangrum and Dick Metz vs. Clayton Haefer and Herman Keiser; and E. J. (Dutch) Harrison and Bob Hamilton vs. Johnny Palmer and "Skip" Alexander.

All ten of the year's leading money winners are in the choice field, and the other six are in the top 20.

Under the event's unique scoring system, each pair meets each other twice in full 18-hole rounds. The winner gets a "plus" equal to the number of holes it finishes ahead, and the loser gets a corresponding "minus." Scores are carried over from match to match, and at the end the pair with the greatest "plus" grabs to $3,000.

Tourney Topics: George Schnetler, PGA tourney chairman, is on hand to fill in as an alternate if needed. It looked for a while as if Johnny Palmer of Badin, N. C., wouldn't arrive on time—but he got in late yesterday after remaining home until his wife had given birth to a 7½ pound son.

Schnetler brought his son along, and the youngster will handle the press tent scoreboard, Charley Kimmet, the PGA's hot-shot, will do the scoring on the public board.

Amateur photographers get a break at today's pre-tourney clinic. A space has been roped off for them, and they may fire at will while the pros are going through their illustrative shots. When the first tournament shot bangs off the first tee, however, cameras in the hands of amateurs will be barred from the course.

In addition to assuring all the entrants a minimum of $75 a day for playing, the Inverness club picks up the hotel and other bills incurred by the stars. The club's motto, so far as the talent is concerned, is "you can't spend a cent in Toledo. You are our guests." The Pros like it, too.

Schnetler said practically the entire field would move from here to Detroit next week for the Motor City open, and then swing down to Columbus the following week for the Columbus open.

Harbert and Ghezzi gave Hogan and Demaret a one-down beating on each nine of a friendly practice round yesterday, on which they had wagered a few bob. On the final hole Hogan had a chance to tie it up, but his putt was short. Demaret told Partner Hogan:

"When you need a putt to win, you should never be short. How do you win all those tournaments, anyway?"

During the round, Demaret and his gang passed Locke and Furgol. Demaret danced over, pumped Locke's hand and asked:

"Where have you been? I didn't see you up at Chicago last week. Were you there?"

What Demaret meant was that Locke was so far ahead of him and the rest of the tournament that he couldn't be seen with the naked eye. Locke copped the victory event, a 72-hole medal play classic, with 266 strokes, no one being within a three-iron shot of him at the finish. The boys in this tournament agree that Locke's 266 was the greatest 72 hole round of tournament golf ever shot. Byron Nelson, in 1945, won the Seattle open with 259, and Hogan won the Portland, Ore., invitational the same year with 261, but the boys say the courses didn't compare with the rugged Chicago layout.

FELLER ATTEMPTS TO HALT YANKEES IN BIG CONTEST

Tommy Henrich's Grand Slam Homer Wrecks Black's Game

CLEVELAND, June 24—It was Bobby Feller's turn today to aim for "the big win" over the New York Yankees which would give the first place Indians an even split in their series with the challenging world champions.

The Yanks moved one-up out of a batting slump with a game-wrecking grand slam homer in the eleventh inning for a 5-1 New York victory.

Don Black hurled a brilliant game until the unlucky eleventh, when the Massillon outfielder proved to be the "unwelcome guest" at a second anniversary party for Tribe Prexy Bill Veech attended by 65,797 stadium fans.

After John Lindell singled to open the second extra inning, Black threw too late in an attempt for a knockout on George Strinewels' bunt. Winning Pitcher Ed Lopat bunted the runners to second and third before Phil Rizzuto was purposely passed to fill the sacks and set up a double play.

Henrich then exploded the Cleveland strategy over the right circuit field fence with his seventh circuit clout of the season.

Lopat, an old Indian jinx who has defeated the Tribe twice in three starts this season, also aided his own cause by driving in George McQuinn with the first Yankee run in the second.

The only bright spot for the Tribe was Ken Keltner's 17th homer over the left field fence in the seventh, which tied the score and sent the veteran third baseman ahead of Joe DiMaggio in the league home run derby.

Polo Club Faces Akron Here Sunday Afternoon

Members of the Salem Polo club, still riding on the crest of a win over the crack Detroit Ivory squad, will play at home Sunday, entertaining Akron Ellet.

The Ellet team, making its debut in the Penn-Ohio league this season, is made up of former members of the rough-riding Akron Bar-K Cowboys, who are known to local polo enthusiasts.

Two Akron Ellet players are Bud

Strauss and Roy Fryan, who have played with Salem as well as being identified with the Akron Cowboys. Newcomers are Bill Hartman and Bill Pflueger.

In the Salem lineup will be Will Smith, Walt Fernengel, Jim Pidgeon and Pete Votaw.

Pidgeon will ride a new polo pony which he acquired last weekend in Detroit. He calls it "Dakota."

Half-time entertainment will feature the Riding Rangerettes, a group of 1 women who present dance and drill arrangements on horseback. Hailing from Warren, they are captained by Margaret Job.

The Rangerettes have appeared in numerous fairs and other shows throughout the country.

The Salem Poloists are planning an active July 4 weekend here when Detroit pays a return visit for games Sunday and Monday.

HANOVERTON NINE COPS 11-INNING TILT FROM SALEM

Hanover's hot American Legion nine Wednesday night took the measure of the Salem V. F. W. hardballers 5-3 on the Salem A. C. diamond.

The winners were forced to go 11 innings to defeat the Salem contingent. They pushed over two big runs in the top of the 11th and held the locals during the last half of the inning.

Camp and Myers paced the hitting for the Legion with two each, while Cibula notched three for Salem.

The next league game at the A. C. field will be at 6 tonight, featuring the Lisbon Merchants and the Leetonia Legion.

Dillard To Make His Last Ohio Showing

(By Associated Press)

BEREA, June 24—Harrison Dillard, Baldwin-Wallace college's national hurdles champion, makes his final home appearance of the season here Saturday in the North-eastern Ohio AAU championships.

Dillard's competition will be led by Ed Dugger, the Dayton veteran who pushed the B-W ace to a 13.9 high hurdles clocking in the Ohio AAU meet two weeks ago.

Gene Cole, the Lancaster school-boy who won the state scholastic quarter-mile championship with a 48-second clocking and also holds the state AAU title in the 220 and 440-yard dashes, will make his first start in the district. His opposition will include Gunther Katzman, the All-Ohio and Ohio Conference champion in both events.

TED WILLIAMS EDGES BOUDREAU IN POLL

CHICAGO, June 24—Sluggin' Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox spurred back into first place in the all-star baseball poll today after yielding it for five days to Cleveland's Lou Boudreau.

The hard hitting Sox left fielder now has been chosen on 114,722 ballots compared to 112,254 for Cleveland's manager-shortstop. Joe DiMaggio, New York Yankee outfielder, is in third place.

Witt, vice-president of the club, declined to comment further, but the statement precipitated a new round of press box rumors. Last year sportsmen from Baltimore, Louisville, and Los Angeles supposedly offered to buy the Browns, but Muckerman held on to the team.

Muckerman said that when he took over as president of the Browns in 1945 he was asked if he would ever move the team out of St. Louis. "My answer at that time was, and still is, 'as long as the people of St. Louis want the Browns here, I would not move them.'"

But, he added, the 2,787 who turned out for last night's game with the third place A's did not indicate the fans wanted the Browns to remain.

MACKENZIE'S Column

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst
Who wants to read about foreign affairs while the Republican National convention is meeting to name the party's standard bearer for the presidency?

That's a rhetorical question which answers itself.

Still, foreign affairs should be very much in our minds these crucial days, for global peace and economic rehabilitation depend on relations between the two dominant powers—the United States and Russia. That is, peace and rehabilitation depend on how America deals with Moscow's aggressive program of communizing the world.

We shouldn't forget for a minute that this is the great issue of our time. It's one which will be with us for several years, at best, so far as one can foresee.

The problem is to hold the Muscovites along the lines which they already have reached in their aggression—to prevent them from taking over any more of Europe and Asia, and to meet their challenge in the Western hemisphere. If that can be done, there will be hope that Communism will lose its grip on its victims, for a political creed which deprives mankind of its bill of rights cannot survive.

However, there's only one way to deal with Communism, and that is by positive, rather than negative, methods. The democracies, under leadership of the United States, must counter the Redism politically, militarily, economically and morally.

The 80th congress which has just completed its herculean labors, has given us what is calculated to be a positive program—a foreign policy capable of dealing with bolshevism's attempt to subjugate the world. My colleague, John Hightower, AP diplomatic reporter in Washington, says the measures passed by the late congress constitute a new foreign policy.

These measures include the Truman doctrine of helping protect the free nations of Europe and the near east against Communism aggression. The Marshall European Recovery program, the resolution by Senator Vandenberg for regional defense systems, and the rearming of the United States in face of Russian expansion. Hightower sums up:

"What the American government

Peace At Last From PERSISTENT ITCH!

No wonder thousands teased by itchy torment bless the day they changed to Resinol. Here's quick action from first moment—a blissful sense of peace that lasts and lasts, thanks to 6 active soothing agents in a lanolin base that stays on. Don't be content with anything less effective than Resinol Ointment. Get FASTEETH today at any drug store.

has now done, through its bi-partisan foreign policy leadership, is to lay the complete basis for a program of rebuilding as much of the world as possible without Russian cooperation.

"It is leaving the way open for an east-west understanding in the future if and how conditions develop which would make that possible."

The result of this new policy already is seen in the solidification of western Europe against further Communist aggression. The most striking development has been the Western European Union of Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg—an alliance which Washington hopes will grow into a United States of Europe.

The United States Senate, in adopting the Vandenberg resolution, went on record as being in favor of support of regional defense alliances where they are in the interest of American security. Presumably as a result of this, conversations soon are to be held between Washington defense heads and representatives of Western European nations. On the whole the democracies the greater material strength, and are organizing it.

Sketch of a Possible WHITE HOUSE POSTRESS

Frances Hutt Dewey

THERE'LL BE MUSIC—good, vocal music—in the White House if New York's Gov. Thomas E. Dewey wins through to the presidency. . . . His pleasing baritone voice is more than matched by Mrs. Dewey's even better mezzo-soprano. They love to sing together. . . . In fact, that's how they first met. . . . However, good voice or no—unlike Margaret Truman, the present president's daughter—there'll be no concert tour for shy, self-effacing Frances Hutt Dewey. . . . She has no personal ambitions. . . . The social whirl has few attractions for this handsome woman who does not look her 45 years. . . . To date she has held her entertaining to a minimum. . . . Her job, as she sees it, is to be the capable wife of her famous husband and the business of rearing her two sons—Tom, Jr., 15, and John, 12—whose activities she rigidly supervises. . . . Today, no one would guess this quiet home-maker once appeared in George White's Scandals, a Broadway musical revue. . . . Her stage name: Eileen Hoyt. . . . However, she also sang often in church choirs. . . . Daughter of a railroad brakeman, Frances Hutt of Sapulpa, Okla., won a high school singing contest that brought her a University of Oklahoma scholarship. . . . However, she preferred music and loyal Sapulpan raised funds to send her to New York to further her study of that art. . . . After her brief stage career she worked as secretary to a Chicago voice teacher, Percy Rector Stephens, in exchange for voice lessons. . . . It was then she met young Tom Dewey, a University of Michigan student, who had won a Michigan first prize and a national third prize by his singing, plus a scholarship under Stephens. . . . Their courtship lasted five years. . . . They were married June 16, 1928. . . . The Deweys set up housekeeping in a $75-a-month apartment. . . . Born in Sherman, Texas, in 1903, Frances Hutt Dewey already lists a president among her relatives. . . . She is a great-grand niece of Jefferson Davis, who was the first and only president of the Confederate States of America.

VICTIM OF A FLASH FLOOD, the body of Mrs. Sam Cligen (top) lies in the arroyo near Pueblo, Colo., where it was found by a cowboy attracted to the spot by a baby's whimper. Bottom, a nurse holds the 10-day-old infant who had lain for 20 hours on the bank where the drowning mother apparently had tossed it. WASHINGTONVILLE

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. McIntosh and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Girard received word of the announcement of the wedding of their relative, Miss Janet Adams and Robert Carringer of Johnstown, Pa. The wedding was to be solemnized in the First Presbyterian church in Johnstown, Pa. Mrs. McIntosh left Friday to attend the wedding.

Father's day was observed Sunday during the Sunday school hour at the Methodist church Sunday with the program in charge of the Bethel class. A short program was presented. The fathers each received a red rose. A gift was presented to Harvey Baker for being the oldest father present, Herbert Hartley received one for being the youngest father present, and David Tingler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Tingler.

They let the Wives in!

The ex-G.I.'s of our town entertained their wives the other night at one of their "feeds" of hamburger sandwiches and ice cold beer. (The girls had hinted that they'd like to see what went on when their husbands got together!)

Being wary, the boys provided chicken sandwiches and cake and cider—for those wives who might have other tastes. But though they were grateful for the choice, most of the wives agreed that hamburger sandwiches and beer were a mighty pleasant combination.

After the "feed" the husbands took their wives on at a game of darts, and later they played "indications." The party broke up around ten, with the boys agreeing that it was mighty successful.

From where I sit, it's this companionship among young couples today, and their moderation in a sensible beverage like beer, that's won the younger generation such a wholesome reputation.

Boyle's COLUMN

By HAL BOYLE
PHILADELPHIA—A man could get only one ovation like that in a lifetime.

It was the kind of ovation that people give to a leader who has won and lost for them in the past, whom they have passed by for the new leader with the new prospect of victory.

There is a strange music in the loyalty of massed human voices. And it must have been nostalgic music indeed to Herbert Hoover last night as he stood on the platform and heard the Republican national convention explode in tribute to him.

It must have carried him back across the years on a bridge of turbulent sound of 1928 and the sweltering summer when he was first nominated in Kansas City.

But he didn't show it. As he walked to the speaker's stand he suddenly caught the convention's heart with his familiarity. This was the same Hoover of yore, back perhaps for his swan song at a party convention, for he is 73. The old high-collared suit and simple tie were there. His hair was whiter and thinner, the cherubic face a bit wrinkled—but they were only the authentic stamps of his role as elder statesman.

To the Republican delegates as he stood there waiting to speak he was a human symbol of their party, unchanged in principle by either defeat or victory. He stood for winning and losing, but they let him know their pride in him.

The ovation began with the suddenness of a flash flood. It started on the convention floor and swept through the galleries in a crashing gust of sound.

It seemed to catch Hoover, the only living former president, by surprise. As the entire convention leaped to its feet in a tempest of cheers and waving banners, he stood uncertainly, half-squinting his blue eyes in the glare of the bright lights.

The sound beat around him like crashes of tremendous surf. He glanced up the galleries and waved his hand tentatively. Like someone on a pier waving goodbye to friends on shipboard he wasn't sure he could see him.

In a twinkling the aisles were jammed with delegates and the convention band blared out "The Battle Hymn of the Republic."

All through the hall hundreds of voices picked up the words: "Glory, Glory Hallelujah! The Truth Goes Marching On!"

Then the parade of delegates, state banners tossing high, wound around the convention hall past the speaker's platform, giving every delegate a chance to wave up individually to the man who twice had led their party.

And they took it as a chance to give him an individual tribute.

There were young men and women who looked up at him with the awe youth gives to veterans of a war they never knew. And there were middle-aged and elderly people who looked up at him with the eyes of remembrance.

The music, the waving banners, the cheers—they stirred root loyalties. A number of women in the long line wept with emotion, and so did several men. Hoover stood silently, his left hand flexing nervously, his face now smiling, now sober.

After fifteen minutes the pounding gavel of the convention chairman, House Speaker Joseph W. Martin, Jr., ended the demonstration.

In grave, unemotional words Hoover then spoke. He said the country and the world faced critical problems which "far transcend partisan action." He told the delegates they are the trustees of the great cause of human liberty and warned: "If you follow the counsel of those who believe that politics is only a game to be played for personal advantage, you are wasting your effort."

"Make yourselves worthy of the victory."

Another wave of cheering washed through the hall. Herbert Hoover stood there a moment, listening to the music of loyalty, and then he stepped back and was gone.

He gave no advice to the convention on the biggest problem remaining on its program—the choice of the party's leader for 1948.

A Dying Farm Is Brought Back To Life

By NEA Service

WINDELL, Ga.—Seven hundred men using a million dollars worth of equipment completely rebuilt the worn-out 168-acre Carlyle-Blakey farm at Windell in one day.

While a crowd of more than 50,000 watched—and sometimes got in the way—here are some of the things that were done:

The entire farm, half of which had been idle land, was revitalized and refurbished.

Every acre was subjected to one or more of almost 30 different treatments, according to the nature of the land and the purpose for which it was to be used.

A gully as deep as a three-story building was filled, leveled off and set to sod.

Three irrigation waterways were put in, and the land they watered was planted respectively to rescue grass, Ladino clover and sericea.

Seven acres were planted to cotton, eight acres to corn.

A good-sized fish pond was created, filled and stocked with fish.

A metal utility barn was erected. All hillside land in danger of erosion was terraced.

All trees on the farm were thinned, treated and classified.

The making over of this farm, a project sponsored jointly by the Atlanta Journal, the Soil Conservation Service and Windell civic groups, is believed here to be much the biggest job of its kind ever done, and also an outstanding example of how to fight the farm-killing effects of soil erosion.

The Army Signal Corps maintained communications, assisted by soldiers, sailors and Marines. One equipment dealer estimated that his contribution of men and machinery cost him $10,000. Another dealer supplied 80 tons of limestone that was spread during the day.

In all, 64 major and 254 intermediate types of equipment were used. Crowds began arriving around 8 o'clock. The work was completed at sundown, with time out for a formal program. Four or five projects had to be left uncompleted, but that was not for lack of time.

It was because the crowds of spectators were so dense that it was feared somebody might be injured.

There was a light rain in the morning. But for from hindering the project, it is credited with saving the day by laying dust and holding down the size of the crowd.

The idea behind the demonstration was to show how a badly rundown farm could be brought back by proper treatment.

Probably many of the thousands came to see a spectacle, and none of these was disappointed. But many others came to learn the latest methods for treating worn-out farmland. These included experts from Sweden, Chile, Peru and South Africa.

Hugh H. Bennett, chief of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service, said: "What is taking place here is one of the most historic events in this state or the United States. It is a great deal more important to the progress of civilization than was the building of the pyramids of Egypt, which required centuries."

Before . . .

As soil conservation "doctors" at Windell, Ga., got ready to perform their biggest operation of all time, spectators gathered to see what would happen to the gully erosion had carved out as big as a three-story house.

After

When farm surgeons with tractors and bulldozers had finished their work, the deep wound of erosion had neatly been sewn up without trace of a scar. Bottom photo is closeup of the "before" scene.

Electric Buzz-Board Makes School Lessons Interesting

Here's a break for the youngsters! No more dull geography, grammar, spelling, history or reading recitations if you use the "buzz-board," new visual training aid pictured above with Kenneth Herbert of San Marcos, Tex., formerly of Salem.

Associate professor of industrial arts, Herbert developed and introduced this idea for the use of his extension education class at Southwest Texas State Teachers college. This board, which simplifies learning, is basically simple. Along one side are a number of electrical contacts. The remainder of the board is covered with pictures. Alongside each contact is a printed word, such as "dog" or "cat." A picture of a dog and a cat is among the pictures on the board.

Taking two ends of an electric circuit in his hands, the student touches a contact by the side of a picture and another contact by the side of a printed word. If he has connected the proper word with the proper picture, the board lights up and a buzzer sounds.

Teachers taking the extension course were so impressed with the possibilities of the board that they asked to borrow it for use in their own classes.

Possibilities for the use of the electric panel board are almost limitless, says Herbert, and it provides a quick and painless method of keeping students interested in their lessons.

Teachers who have used the board report that many students are so fascinated that they ask to remain after school to play it.

After all, it's entertaining as well as educational.

Herbert, son of Mrs. Louise Herbert of the Damascus rd., and the late James Herbert, is a graduate of Salem High school. He received his Master's degree at Ohio State university and in another year expects to return to Ohio State to work toward a doctor's degree.

Temperance May Be O. K. But Money Always Talks

ROCKFORD, Ill.—An alderman's temperance lecture failed to change the minds of his fellow councilmen.

Lewis B. Lundberg, who says he never has taken a drink, spoke at some length against giving a dancing permit to a tavern.

"Women, whisky and gasoline don't mix," he concluded.

The vote was 15 to 4 in favor of giving the tavern the license—for $500.

The ocean near Mindanao, Philippines, is so deep that if Mount Everest could be dropped into the sink, its peak would be more than a mile below the surface.

Casual Greeting Saves Life Of A Truck Driver

COLUMBUS—Carl Tennant is grateful to a friend who stopped to say hello.

Tennant, a truck driver, had finished loading at a railroad dock-age and jumped down from the platform to head for his truck cab. A friend called and waved. Carl stopped and waved back.

Just then two moving freight cars jumped a railroad abutment and crashed into the cab, demolishing it.
